

LEAD-ON! “Curriculum”

Students who want to be intentional about their own leadership development may work through an outlined plan of activities and workshops. This plan is designed to give students a better understanding of themselves, how they work in groups, and the opportunity to practice those things learned through involvement on campus and through service to others.

Participation in learning leadership Theory, Skills, and the Application of those are all awarded point values toward completing three different levels of the LEAD-ON! program. Units accumulated in all three areas count toward completing each of the three levels. Requirements to complete each level are:
