PSYCHOLOGY MAJOR, B.A.

Psychology Department; College of Arts, Humanities & Social Sciences

Psychology is the study of human behavior and other organisms in an effort to understand and explain their behavior. Such studies include both normal and abnormal behavior, aptitude, perception, development and individual differences. Psychology seeks to explain and understand human emotions, thought patterns and motives. There are many sub-branches of psychology including social, educational, developmental, abnormal, clinical, physiological, personality, industrial, sports, and counseling psychology to name a few. At Asbury, the major is presented from a Christian worldview.

To graduate must complete all major requirements, foundational requirements, and additional electives needed for 124 hour minimum degree requirement.
